

PHILIPPINE FRONTLINE MINISTRIES

35 Years of "Working While it's Day"

Hello from the Frontline!

Last month we reported, "So much has been moving forward here, I can hardly keep up myself!" Nothing has changed in this respect.

Frontline Worship Center (FWC) is experiencing a season of growth and development. Young people are connecting, excited, increasingly involved, and taking on roles of leadership. The worship services are deeply moving. Teaching and preaching times are anointed. We are thankful to see such community and unity in mission across all eight FWC campuses and our many house churches. At the right you can see Rowena Pessina and Rhoda Beloso ministering at church gatherings, Mike Erickson leading another incredible worship service, and people praying for one another. People are not just coming to church, but coming to know the Lord and to experience the Kingdom of God.

Recently we held our annual Frontline Christian Academy Family Day gathering. It's an annual event for staff, students and families for bonding through fun and games, food, fellowship, and ministry. As I watched these families throughout the day, these words kept coming to mind... "reaching and helping people find their way back to God." That's what we are doing at Frontline! When I spoke to the parents I reminded them that no school can take the place of parenting, but that we can partner together in the hard work of raising up godly leaders for tomorrow.

Another exciting development is the inclusion of two new students (Edward and Althea, at right) sponsored into FCA. Both these beautiful children are from situations of overwhelming hardship. Edward is one of nine children, and because he is academically behind his age, is receiving special tutoring to help him catch up. Althea is from a single-parent home where her mother is doing her best to raise the family. Providing a caring and excellent Christian education is something that will change the future of children like this, and potentially their entire families.

These are just a few of the many things worth reporting. Your partnership in prayer and finance is genuinely making a current and future impact, and an eternal difference for the lives of thousands of people.

Thank you again for standing with us as a Frontline partner!
